Governors Take a Stand Against Obama Administration's Decision to Sequester SRS Payments

Alaska Governor Sean Parnell

April 28, 2013

"On behalf of the proud forest communities that received FFY 2012 Secure Rural School aid in January of 2013, I maintain that neither the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, as amended by the Budget Control Act of 2011, nor the Anti-Deficiency Act, authorize you to request repayment of Tide I and Tide III outlays. As such, I will not request the Alaska State Legislature consider such an appropriation."

Montana Governor Matthew Mead

April 19, 2013

"Wyoming will not reimburse any portion of Title I or III funds. These payments were rightfully paid to 19 Wyoming counties on January 16, 2013 - weeks before the Budget Control Act of 2011 went into effect. Counties use these funds for public schools, roads, conservation, emergency services and wildfire protection projects. I have yet to see a legal justification for the United States Forest Service to require the State or counties to pay back funds to which they were rightfully entitled and which have been lawfully distributed."

Washington Governor Jay Inslee

April 19, 2013

"In response to a letter I received on March 19, 2013, pertaining to Secure Rural Schools payments having been previously received by and allocated to the State, I wish to inform you that the state of Washington will decline to accept a reduction in the allocation of Title II funds, or to repay previously received Title I and Title III funding, unless and until the state can be convinced of the United States Forest Service's (USFS) legal authority to reclaim these funds."

Alabama Governor Robert Bentley

April 30, 2013

"Bentley responded to Tidwell on April 30, asking for "the legal basis for the demand to return the funds."
